ABOUT QUENTIN DUJARDIN

After an eventful 2020, Quentin Dujardin returns to us with a LIVE concert, the result of a long collaboration with his stage partners: Manu Katché, Didier Laloy et Boris Schmidt.

Composer & guitarist, Quentin Dujardin creates a unique universe around his nylon-string guitars. His musical projects are marked by lived landscapes or even people he meets along the way. Like a postcard, his music creates bridges between music from elsewhere and our Western musical heritage. His unclassifiable work thus touches on the universal. His path remains immutably attached to sound and emotion.

Notable musical collaborations include Belgian harmonica player Toots Thielemans, American producer Lee Townsend (Bill Frisell, Pat Metheny, Dave Holland), drummer Manu Katché, Iranian singer Mahsa Vahdat, Richard Bona as well as Bijan Chemirani, Olivier Ker Ourio, Bert Joris, Matthieu Saglio, Ivan Paduart and many others.

His work as a composer also leads him to produce the soundtrack for the theatrical adaptation of Eric-Emmanuel Schmitt's best-selling novel, Monsieur Ibrahim & des Fleurs du Coran. In 2011, Quentin Dujardin is invited to join the International Yehudi Menuhin Foundation to become an artist ambassador of this association with international influence. His soundtrack for the film Ma Forêt wins an award in 2012 at the United Nations Forum on Forests. In 2022, the guitarist received prize of Best Composer at Toronto Independent Film Festival for its music on the film Paradisiac. After more than a thousand concerts, his music now counts more than 6 million streams in more than a hundred countries.
